HISTORICAL STATEMENT

St. John's College, Fordham, New York, was formally opened June 24, 1841.

April 10, 1846, the New York Legislature granted the College university faculties with power to confer such honors, degrees, or diplomas as are granted by any university in the United States.

In 1907 the following Act was passed by the Regents:

UNIVERSITY OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK.

AMENDMENT TO CHARTER OF ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE, FORDHAM.

Having received a petition made in conformity to law and being satisfied that public interests will be promoted by such action, the Regents, by virtue of the authority conferred on them, hereby amend the charter of St. John's College, Fordham, by changing its corporate name to

FORDHAM UNIVERSITY

And giving to its Medical department the name of Fordham University, School of Medicine; to its Law department the name of Fordham University, School of Law; and to its Collegiate department the name of Fordham University, St. John's College.

In witness whereof, the Regents grant this amendment to charter No. 1808, under seal of the University, at the Capitol in Albany, March 7, 1907.

ST. CLAIR McKELWAY,
Vice-Chancellor.

A. S. DRAPER,
Commissioner of Education.

Recorded and took effect 2.30 p. m., March 7, 1907.

June 21, 1904, the Board of Trustees authorized the opening of the Schools of Law and Medicine. The first Law Class was held in October, 1905, there being a registration of thirteen students. The registration increased rapidly in each successive year until it reached the total of three hundred and fifty-eight (358) for the year 1913-1914.

PURPOSE OF THE SCHOOL

It is the aim of the school to make its students efficient lawyers and to qualify them for the conduct of public affairs, for the proper administration of which a knowledge of the law is essential. Therefore, in addition to teaching the practical application of the subjects in the courses, their historical and philosophical development is treated; a comprehensive course of lectures on Jurisprudence is conducted.

The design of the School is to afford a practical and scientific education in the principles of General Jurisprudence.

The Common and Statute Law of the United States.

The System of Equity Jurisprudence.

Pleading and Civil Procedure at Common Law and under the New York Code.

Practice in the Courts of New York and New Jersey.

PERIOD OF STUDY

The Course for the degree of Bachelor of Laws will cover three years. A Fourth Year Course is required for the degree of Master of Laws.

The Fourth Year Course will be given whenever a sufficient number of students apply for graduate instruction. Those desirous of entering this course are requested to communicate with the Registrar of the School.

SYSTEM OF INSTRUCTION

THE CASE SYSTEM WILL BE FOLLOWED

The School in the beginning used the text-book method of instruction, but, after one year, abandoned this method in favor of the case system, which has ever since been used in the School with constantly increasing success. Under this system, carefully selected collections of cases are used as the basis of instruction, and a certain number of these cases are assigned each day for study. The students who have studied these cases are required to state the facts of each case, the decision reached therein by the court, and the reasons for that decision. The class and the instructor then discuss the decision, and consider whether the given case was rightly decided, and, if so, what principles of law it establishes. The instructor then requires the class to apply these principles to new and different sets of facts, and thus gives the students practice in the art of applying law to varying conditions of fact.

The main objects, then, of the case system of instruction are to teach the student to deduce legal principles from reported cases, and also to teach him to apply these principles to other cases, and thus to develop in him the power of legal reasoning through the use of the actual decisions of the courts. By this method the student learns from the very beginning to do the kind of work which every lawyer must do in actual practice, and thus receives the very best preparation for actual work at the bar. Moreover, the student who studies law under the case system has the great advantage of studying cases under the guidance and direction of a teacher, an advantage which no student can secure in a law office for two reasons: first, because the practicing lawyer is too busy to occupy himself with the work of teaching; and second, because, ordinarily such a lawyer has had no experience in teaching, even if he had the necessary time to devote to it.

The School, after having tried both the text-book and the case system of instruction, has found that the case system possesses many advantages over the text-book system. The following are some of the chief advantages of the case system:

1. The case system begins the study of the law with actual reported cases decided in the courts. The bulk of our system of law falls into two main subdivisions. (1) Law which is to be found in the decisions of the courts. (2) Law which is created by statutes. Even a statute, however, can rarely be understood without referring to decided cases; for a statute is frequently nothing but a codification of a rule of law previously established by such decided cases. Moreover, even where the statute creates a wholly new rule of law, it frequently has questions arising as to its meaning and effect, and the answer to these questions cannot be found save in the reported cases which have decided them. Indeed, it may be asserted that nothing is law unless the courts recognize and enforce it as such in the cases which they decide. It therefore follows that such cases are the final and authoritative sources to which we must look to find the law.

Each case decided by the highest court of any jurisdiction settles the law for that jurisdiction on the point involved in that case.

Such a case becomes a precedent which the lower courts of that jurisdiction are bound to follow, and cases establishing such precedents are but rarely overruled by the higher courts which decided them. A decision therefore (not overruled) of the highest court of any jurisdiction on any question is the law of that jurisdiction. A text-book, on the other hand, is usually a brief restatement of the principles of law which the author of the text-book believes to have been established by such decisions. A decided case has authority in a law court; a text-book has no authority whatsoever as law, but is ordinarily used merely as a means of finding the names of certain cases bearing on some point of law, or at most the views of the author as to the soundness of such cases, it being well understood that courts and lawyers must go to the cases themselves to find out what the law actually is.

Under the case system, therefore, the student has the great advantage of learning the law at first-hand, a thing which he can never do from any text-book.

2. The case system stimulates the power of the student to investigate and reason, instead of tending to make him rely upon mere memory, which is the tendency where a text-book is used.

3. The case system gives the student from the very start practice in reading and analyzing cases, an art which is absolutely indispensable to the practicing lawyer, and which the student is not likely to acquire under the text-book system until after he enters the bar. On this point, a distinguished lawyer who, though trained under the text-book system, adopted the case system after he became a teacher of the law, told his pupils that the case system taught the students to do work in the law school which those who were trained under the old system were obliged to learn to do after they became practitioners.

4. The case system is a far more interesting system of instruction, both to student and teacher, than the text-book system. This is because the case system does not deal with mere abstract principles, but teaches these principles in a vivid and realistic manner in connection with actual sets of facts. In this way alone can the student be made to realize from the start that the law is a living thing, and not a dead mechanical set of rules.

5. The case system gives the student, to a degree that no other system does, the power to apply the law to various sets of facts—a power which constitutes the very essence of a true lawyer.

The School has in its Faculty some law teachers who were trained under the case system of instruction, and others who were trained under the text-book system; and the unanimous verdict of both these classes of teachers is that the case system of instruction is the best existing method of studying and teaching the law. The School is confident that all students of the law who are desirous of cultivating the power to reason, instead of a mere parrot-like use of the memory, and who wish to possess real knowledge and power as opposed to a mere appearance of knowledge without real power, will find in the case system of instruction the best means of mastering the law.

Although the aim of the School is to train its students so that they may be qualified to practice law in any common law jurisdiction, especial care is taken throughout the course to indicate in each subject the peculiarities of the law of New York. Particular attention is called to the following courses, which have a special bearing on the New York law:

1. COMMON LAW AND CODE PLEADING.—In this course the principles of common law and code pleading are taught, and the chief similarities and differences between the common law pleading and the code pleading (which is in force in New York) are fully explained.

2. THE NEW YORK CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE.—The object of this course is a careful study of the more important sections of the New York Code and their application to such cases as might arise in actual practice.

3. PRACTICE IN THE NEW YORK COURTS.—The purpose of this course is to train the students in the drawing of pleadings and other legal papers, in the trial of cases, in other details of court work, and in the routine matters of office practice.

A comprehensive course in Jurisprudence is conducted by the Rev. T. J. Shealy, S.J., which deals with the fundamental ethical concepts, the general principles which form the basis of law, as well as its genesis and historical development.

It is believed that the courses of the School are so arranged as to unite a sound training in the fundamental principles of the law with a training in the practical application of these principles to actual legal work.

NEW JERSEY PRACTICE COURSE

A full course in New Jersey Practice will be given on Saturday afternoons throughout the year.

This course may be substituted for the New York Code and Practice course by third year students, and by arrangement with the Registrar, all students may take this course specially.

SPECIAL LECTURES

Special lectures will be given during the year by various members of the bar. The subjects and dates of these lectures and the names of the lecturers will be announced later.

COMMENCEMENT

The Seventh Annual Commencement of the School of Law will be held in the Hall of the University, Fordham, on Tuesday, June 9, 1914, at 8.15 p. m.

ACADEMIC YEAR

The first half of the Academic Year 1914-1915 will begin Thursday, September 24, 1914, and end January 29, 1915. The second half-year will begin February 1, 1915, and end Tuesday, June 8, 1915. Recitations will be suspended on all legal holidays and the two days following Thanksgiving Day; from Wednesday, December 23, 1914, until Monday, January 4, 1915; and from Thursday, April 1, 1915, to Monday, April 5, 1915, both inclusive.

Attendance is prescribed at all lectures in course. Students unavoidably absent from lectures on account of illness or otherwise may be excused at the discretion of the Faculty.

STUDIES REQUIRED FOR DEGREE

Every candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Laws will be required to take all the subjects of the first three years, except that third year students may elect between the New York Code and Practice course and the New Jersey Practice course; to all other students the New Jersey Practice course is an extra course. Every candidate for the degree of Master of Laws will be required to take all the subjects of the fourth year.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION

Applicants for degrees must be at least eighteen years of age, present certificates of good moral character, and be

(a) Graduates of a University or College approved by the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York; or,

(b) Graduates of a high school maintaining a four years' course, or its equivalent.

All applicants for degrees must be graduates of colleges or schools, registered or approved by the above Regents, or must produce a certificate from the Regents showing that they have received an education equivalent to the above requirements.

The Department of Education has issued a bulletin known as Handbook 27, which contains full information as to the institutions recognized by the Regents and the courses which will be accepted as equivalents. Copies may be obtained by application at the School.

EXAMINATIONS

Examinations will be held at the completion of each subject in the course. The student's work in the class room is also taken into consideration in determining his mark in each subject. Students failing to pass satisfactorily may, at the discretion of the Faculty, be conditioned and given the opportunity of an additional examination in the conditioned subjects.

All examinations taken at the end of the third year, whether in regular course, or to remove conditions, are conclusive in their results for that year. In case of failure in any such examination, re-examination will not be permitted during that academic year.

LAW LIBRARY

A well equipped library of American and English reports and text-books is open at the School for the use of the students from 12 m. to 10 p. m., and every facility has been provided for research. Liberal additions will be made to the library as required.

SPECIAL STUDENTS

Special arrangements will be made with students who desire to pursue one or more courses at regular lecture hours.

SCHOLARSHIPS

In each class the student attaining the highest average in recitations and examinations will be awarded a prize of fifty dollars ($50.00) in gold.

ADMISSION TO THE BAR

College graduates are entitled to apply for admission to the New York Bar after regular attendance at the School for three years; an additional year of clerkship in a law office is obligatory for those who are not college graduates, but are graduates of a high school approved by the Regents, or who have a Regents' certificate showing that they have an education equivalent to that received in such a high school.

FEES

The fee for instruction is One Hundred Dollars per annum, payable Fifty Dollars on entrance and the balance on February 1 following. A fee of Ten Dollars is charged for degree examination.

A matriculation fee of Five Dollars is payable upon registration. A charge of Five Dollars is made for each conditioned examination.

No degree is granted or certificate of attendance issued to any student who has not paid all fees due from him to the School, and no student of any class will be permitted to attend recitations or examinations who is in default more than two weeks in the payment of any such fee.

COST OF LIVING

The School does not maintain a boarding department, but information as to where board and rooms can be obtained on such terms as each student desires to pay will be furnished on application.

HOURS OF INSTRUCTION

Classes from Monday to Friday inclusive

The evening division of the school is now fully organized and will be conducted upon precisely the same basis as that of the afternoon division; the teachers will duplicate in almost every course, and in case of necessity, students will be permitted to transfer from one division to the other; such transfer must be final and cannot be made more than once during each academic year.

DAY SCHOOL.—Classes will be held on every week day, except Saturday, commencing at 4.15 p. m.

EVENING SCHOOL.—Classes will be held in the evening of every week day except Saturday, commencing at 7.45 p. m.

For the order of lectures in both day and evening school, the schedule may be consulted.

The class-rooms and library will be open to students on Saturdays, for study or for moot courts and debating society, which the students are urged to consider seriously.

MOOT COURT AND DEBATING SOCIETY

The moot court which was instituted two years ago was perfected during the past year, and through the courtesy of the Judiciary of the First and Second Departments, we were enabled to conduct trials of several moot cases presided over by Justices of the Appellate Division and Trial Term of the Supreme Court. These trials were conducted with all the ceremony attending regular trials in the Supreme Court. The results were most gratifying to both faculty and students. It is the purpose of the school to continue these moot trials on the same basis.

A debating society has been fully organized for the discussion of such leading topics of the day as may be profitably considered from the standpoint of the practicing lawyer.

Both the moot court and the debates are conducted on Saturday afternoons, and are so arranged as not to conflict with each other.

LOCATION OF THE SCHOOL

The School is located at 140 Nassau Street, where the School has accommodations for between four hundred and five hundred students. The location of the School is in the centre of the office district, within two blocks of the Federal and County Courts, and within a few minutes' walk of the Brooklyn Bridge, the Subway, all the Elevated lines, the New Jersey Ferries and the Hudson Tunnels.
